Subject: Specialist Registration

Jay

I would encourage you to seek specialist registration in Australia. Whilst I know that the process is not cheap, the hospital would be willing to pay for the Specialist Assessment. Basically this is because we see it as a win win proposition. You get to be paid considerably more salary and we get to be able to charge patients on your behalf at the specialist rate. The process can take some time (months) so that the earlier the documentation is commenced the better. I apologize that I didn't think to suggest this earlier.

You need to initiate the process but we can support it. For more information please visit the Australian Medical Council Website at <http://www.amc.org.au> or contact me for further details via email.
