Cubicle 4, Acute Area

At 2025hrs, while performing neurological obs on Patient A (Pt.A), I noticed that she was extremely teary when Dr Qureshi came into the cubicle. After I asked Dr Qureshi to leave the cubicle, I asked Pt.A why she was upset. Pt.A stated that the (same) doctor was present previously while she was having a seizure. Pt.A stated she could feel him kissing the (left) side of her face and also said that she could feel him putting his hand down the front of her shirt. She stated that even though she can feel and hear things during a seizure, she is unable to respond. This incident was reported to Clinical Nurse C. Morrison and Nurse Manager J. Marese.

DANIELA TARLINGTON RN

I attended to Pt.A after RN Tarlington asked me to be with Pt.A while she reported the incident. While at Pt.A's bedside, I asked Pt.A if she was alright. Pt.A proceeded to tell me the same story (as above). She also stated that the doctor, before the seizure, began stroking her hair - Pt.A indicated the left side. Pt.A stated that she thought nothing of this gesture.
